

Certified Food Protection Manager Training

All Risk Type 3 (high risk) food establishments (those with extensive handling of raw ingredients including cooking, cooling, and reheating of 3 or more potentially hazardous foods) shall have a least one Certified Food Protection Manager on staff. Currently there are three State-approved accrediting programs:

National Registry- www.nfsp.com

Serv-Safe- www.servsafe.com

Thompson Prometric- www.prometric.com/foodsafety

There are many private companies and organizations that administer these accredited programs. The list of companies and organizations below is just a partial list and is provided for your convenience. Contact the program directly or visit their web site for additional information about testing and training locations.

- 1) American Food Safety Institute- 1-800-723-3873;
www.americanfoodsafety.com
- 2) Elijah's Promise- 732-545-9002; www.elijahspromise.org
- 3) FSS Consultants- 908-782-0637; www.fssconsultants.org
- 4) Language Directions- 973-228-8848; www.languagedirections.com
- 5) Middlesex County College- 732-906-2556; See the Continuing Education Bulletin - <http://www.middlesexcc.edu/profcom/control.cfm>
- 6) NJEHA- www.njeha.org
- 7) Paster Training, Inc.- 1-866-394-1776; www.PasterTraining.com
- 8) Premier Food Safety- 1-800-676-3121; www.premierfoodsafety.com
- 9) The Rutgers University NJAES Office of Continuing Professional Education- 732-932-9271- www.cpe.rutgers.edu/servsafe